TALK OF AN EXPERT

Who Has Made a Study of Fred
Leonard's Condition.

HE WILL SURELY GROW WORSE

According to the Opinion of Dr. G. C.
Palmer, the Insanity Specialist—
More of the Testimony.

Fred Leonard sat in court yesterday and listened to the testimony of Dr. George C. Palmer, the expert on insanity cases, without being manifestly alarmed. When Dr. Palmer testified that Fred's insanity would grow worse, and that he thought it unsafe for Fred to be at liberty, Fred's eyes wandered restlessly from the faces of his attorneys, to those of the witness and the jury. Otherwise he was unmoved.

August Vae of Detroit was the first witness sworn. He said that Fred Leonard had stayed with him in Detroit. At that time Fred was filthy in the extreme and his conversation was wild. At one time he told the witness that he had $350,000 in the Third National bank in Detroit, and his brothers had $100,000 more in their possession which belonged to him, and which he was going to get. Fred had also told him about his patent refrigerator. Fred had been drunk some times but was not usually so. On cross-examination the witness said that Fred often argued on political questions, taking either side. Fred first stayed at the witness' hotel in June, 1921. He had often dropped in and asked for whiskey. His manner on those occasions was rational. Fred was a medium drinker. Sometimes he drank as many as four to twelve glasses of whiskey a day. Witness said that Fred often came to his hotel and would have his trunk transferred from the 1150 train and taken out again for the 1:35 train back to Grand Rapids. He did not know whether Fred was drunk or sober. Fred's clothing was usually a pitiable state.

Frank A. Leonard of Alma was the next witness. He is a cousin of Fred and had visited his father's residence in this city. Had not seen Fred until 1922, when he met him in Alma. There was a great change. Fred didn't ask after his family, but came into the witness' livery barn every day and ordered livery rigs. He had one rig in the morning and one in the afternoon. He would drive alone through the country, with apparently no place to go. On one occasion the marshal of Alma arrested him for careless driving and said that Fred was drunk. After that the witness always drove with Fred or sent a man with him. Witness saw Fred again at St. Louis, Mich., the next spring, where he was taking treatment.

On cross-examination the witness said that Fred over drove the horse he hired. The witness did not see the accident at the time when Fred was arrested for careless driving and did not know whether other parties were more at blame than Fred. He said that Fred frequently played losing games of "rummy" in the village.

Dr. George C. Palmer of Flint was the next witness. He was formerly superintendent of the Michigan asylum for the insane. He had filled that position for twenty-seven years. At present he was running a private asylum. He was put through a course by the lawyers regarding his expert testimony with Fred. He was acquainted with Fred. Had met him during July of this year. He had gone to Petoskey to study Fred's case by the request of Charles Leonard. He noticed that he was suffering with paralysis, nervous, restless and showed many insane points. Fred talked with the witness on general subjects, the weather, refrigerators, etc. He told the doctor about his great refrigerator, also about a great gold mine, a few miles from Petoskey, which he was going to buy. He was afflicted with various delusions. Fred had told the witness that he could have Charles put into prison at any moment, and that neither Charles nor Frank would get any benefit out of the refrigerator he had patented. The witness stated that Fred had talked sometimes about his wife and their domestic relations. The witness noticed him drink seven times in one half day. As a medical man, the doctor had formed an opinion that Fred was insane, caused by general paralysis, and was beyond medical treatment. Fred's case is complicated, he said, a certain portion of his brain having been softened and become useless. He will, in the opinion of witnesses, grow worse, and finally will be unable to articulate or hold connected conversation, and will finally play out. The witness stated that he did not consider Fred competent to care for himself. The question was asked as to whether he thought it was safe for Fred to be at large. The doctor did not think that Fred was competent to manage his property. He believed he would squander his money.

REJOINED THE TREASURER.

De Graaf and Vrieling began suit to enforce judgment.

De Graaf, Vrieling & Co., began a chancery proceeding in the superior court yesterday against Cornelius Den Houter and Sarah H. Sorrick. The company asks that Mr. Den Houter be restrained from collecting and Mr. Sorrick from paying the damages awarded

Mr. Den Houter in the opening of Bates street.

The company claims it secured a judgment against Den Houter for $400.44 in the circuit court. The judgment is still in force and uncollected. The jury which awarded damages in the opening of Bates street gave Den Houter $449. De Graaf, Vrieling & Company wishes the amount of this judgment paid to the sheriff who holds their execution out of the amount of damages awarded in the opening of Bates street.

Judge Burlingame issued a restraining order, arguments on which will be made December 12.

MRS. SPROUT GETS THE FARM.

Forty Acre Farm Deeded to Her By the Circuit Court.

A decree was granted in the circuit court yesterday by which the title to a forty-acre farm in Ada was given to Emily O. Sprout of this city. The farm originally belonged to a Mrs. Chaffer, an aunt of Mrs. Sprout. Ella Burk, a girl residing somewhere in the west, lived with Mrs. Chaffer for some years and took care of her, but later returned to her home in the west. Mrs. Sprout and her husband, Dr. O. Sprout, then went to live on the farm and cared for Mrs. Chaffer until she died. In consideration of the services the farm was deeded to Mrs. Sprout. Ella Burk claimed that the farm was deeded to her while she lived with Mrs. Chaffer, but that the deed was not delivered or placed on file and that undue influence was used in persuading Mrs. Chaffer to deed the farm to Mrs. Sprout. The court decided in Mrs. Sprout's favor.

Minor Court Notes.

Sarah E. Bigelow yesterday petitioned the circuit court for support of herself and child during the pendency of her suit for divorce against her husband, Ora E. Bigelow.

Martin Vanenklaas, charged with robbing the till in William Schermer's saloon, was fined $10 and costs in police court yesterday afternoon.

Lenzie Dykstra was examined as to his sanity in the probate court yesterday. He was ordered sent to the asylum at Kalamazoo. He resides in Gaines township, where he has a wife and one child.

Mothers and Daughters.

Over twelve years I was afflicted with a very serious female difficulty and for the last sixteen months was under treatment of three of the very best physicians that money could employ. Under their skillful treatment I gradually grew worse, until they decided they could render me no permanent help. One of my friends persuaded me to try a bottle of Doan's Great German Uterine Tonic, and after taking three bottles, I can say I am in better health than I have been for twenty years, and am now 60 years old, but feel as young as at 30.

WRITERS FOR WOMEN.

Is Happiness Possible to All Classes?

Longer One Lives, More Convinced of Some Men's Worth.

Mrs. R. J. Patch, Margaret Spence and Mrs. E. J. Coombs.

Happiness is not impossible without health, but it is highly improbable. The longer a woman lives the more she is convinced that the apothecary is of more importance than the president.

By health one does not mean merely an absence of dangerous complaints, but that the body should be in perfect tune—full of vigor and elasticity. Three well known women, one in Illinois, one in New York, and one in Massachusetts, who are now in the best of health, like hundreds of others less widely known, but equally as grateful, have recently written for separate publications their advice to the many women who suffer as they have suffered. Says Margaret Spence of Chicago: "I have been suffering for the past ten years from nervous debility and chronic dyspepsia. I have doctored in London, England, and America all these years, but have never found anything that did me much good. But a few weeks ago I began to take Paine's celery compound, and now, at the end of two weeks, I find myself a new person, and well, comparatively speaking. I shall never cease to recommend the compound and I cannot say too much in its favor.

"My mother, who lives in Scotland, was a sufferer from inward trouble, and she, too, used Paine's celery compound. I have heard from her twice and the compound, I send her is doing her much good."

Mrs. E. J. Coombs of Prattburgh, N. Y., writes: "I have suffered more or less for the past fifteen years of my life with inflammatory rheumatism, and at different times have been perfectly helpless.

"A year ago in May I had another severe attack and was helpless until into July. A friend urged me to try Paine's celery compound, as it had been highly recommended, and I determined to try it. I purchased eighteen bottles. I took eleven of these and distributed the rest among my friends.

"I can say that I am perfectly well as the result of taking this medicine, and do my work and attend to business. There are two friends of mine, Mrs. John S. Parker, Mrs. George Clark, and others of this place who can not say enough in favor of Paine's celery compound."

The following, from a communication of Mrs. R. J. Patch of Malden, Mass., is also to the point:

MARGARET SPENCE.

"A year ago I had a very hard attack of grippa and suffered for two months from this disease. I then took Paine's celery compound and it brought me right up; it cured me, though I am nearly 70 years old, so it must be the medicine for the old. I keep it by me all the time and when I feel poorly I take it a few days and it makes me well again; it is good for any sickness.

"A young friend of mine in Bethel, Vt., was sick with the grippa last April. I wrote about the compound. She stopped her physician's visits and in a short time she was able to go to Pittsfield on a visit. Her father says that he recommends it to every one he meets. My brother is also taking the compound for rheumatism and it is curing him. It is a valuable medicine."

It is everywhere known that Paine's celery compound can be had of any good druggist.
